

Mediterranean

Leave ordinary behind. Welcome the sun, sights, and tastes of the Mediterranean. Lose yourself inside ports steeped in history. You deserve this.

Caribbean

Will you dive into local culture or skim its surface? Will you swim amongst exotic fish above protected coral reefs or inhale the deeply fragrant scents of native dishes? The decision is yours.

Persian Gulf

Bargain in bazaars. Walk beneath domes that have caught generations of peoples' prayers. Feel how India's riotous colors and plentiful spices can intoxicate.

Northern Europe

Enter landscapes of stark beauty. Layer for warmth while floating on dark water between towering rock walls. Visit imperial palaces in a city brimming with bridges. Northern adventures await.

Asian Pacific

Travel to cities where east meets west and technology parallels tradition. Witness the mingling of cultures and religions. Honor deities alongside locals inside temples and shrines. Absorb the peaceful energy and fairytale-like beauty inside Vietnam's Halong Bay.

Indian Ocean

The Indian Ocean is home to habitats housing superlatives: outsized palm de mér fruit and golden, critically endangered ploughshare tortoises. Visit La Réunion, where live and extinct volcanoes coexist. You're superlative—why not treat yourself to the best?

Transatlantic Cruises

Want to follow the path of early explorers? Sign up for a transatlantic cruise. All three begin (and end) in either Italian, French, or Spanish ports. One heads through the Caribbean, another navigates around South America—touching ports along the continent's eastern and western edges—while the third steers straight for Miami.

South America

Move your hips to Samba. Reflect in quiet churches. Enjoy salt air while you watch fishermen plying their trade in beachside communities. This route has it all—food, nightlife, and nature.
